

Tracey Wade

Tracey has an extensive TV news, media, and writing background and, in addition to her work at Coast Mental Health, devotes herself full-time to charitable causes such as BC Children's Hospital, the BC SPCA, the Canadian Institute for the Blind, and Whistler Animal Galore.

Tracey has been involved with the Courage to Come Back Awards for over ten years. Her goals are to end the stigma around mental illness, foster meaningful program development at Coast, and continue applying her talents in fundraising and event management.
